All is finished! and at length
Has come the bridal day
Of beauty and of strength,
Today the vessel shall be launched!

With fleecy clouds the sky is blanched
And o'er the bay,
Slowly, in all his splendors bright
The great sun rises to behold the sight.

*With oaken brace and copper band,
Lay the rudder on the sand,
That, like a thought, should have control
Over the movement of the whole;
And near it the anchor, whose giant hand
Would reach down and grapple with the land,
And immovable and fast
Hold the great ship against the bellowing blast!*

Sayings of Famous Seamen

In olden days the shingle was the board of education. (Elizabeth Draper.)

It is said that a good diamond will cut through nearly anything. It certainly can make a hole in a bank account. (Firman Wood)

For that slender figure—sharpen your pencil. (Nancy Atkins)

Some people wonder where second hand cars go—They don't! (Ben Turner)

An angle is where two lines meet and start in opposite directions. (Dorothy Vernon on a geometry test.)

Sweat glands are small tubes which carry the inspiration away. (Roy Williams on the subject of physiology.)

There are two things a woman can never get off right: a funny story and a street car. (Dillard Davis)

I can remember when girls were all bustle instead of muscle and hustle. (Mr. McMillan.)

The ideal treatment of spinach is to leave it in the garden. (Captain Rainey)

One of the easiest ways to lose control of a car is to stop making monthly payments on it. (Josephine Brown)

The most common impediment in American speech is chewing gum. (Frank Harris after making an extensive research)

Cleanliness may be next to Godliness, but with two or three kids around it's next to impossible. (Author Unknown)

Let's have it quiet, please! (Mate James Grey)

A cave man may not know what love is but he can give you a rough idea. (Louise O'Dell—experienced? ? ?)

Longfellow said a man must be either a hammer or an anvil, but he overlooked the fellow who is simply bellows. (Richard Lorance)

*Day by day the vessel grew,
With timber fashioned strong and true,
Stemson and keelsan and sternson-knee,
Till, framed with perfect symmetry,
A skeleton ship rose up to view!
And around the bows and along the side
The heavy hammers and mallets plied,
Till after many a week, at length,
Wonderful for form and strength,
Sublime in its enormous bulk
Loomed aloft the shadowy hulk!*

*Thus with the rising of the sun
Was the noble task begun,
And soon throughout the shipyard's bounds
Were heard the intermingled sounds
Of axes and of mallets, plied
With vigor on every side;
Plied so deftly and so well,
That, ere the shadows of the evening fell,
The keel of oak for a noble ship,
Scarfed and bolted, straight and strong,
Was lying ready, and stretched along
The blocks well placed upon the ship.*

*'Tis with regret we say farewell
To our bark so strong and true;
We've buffeted many a squall with it
As its courageous crew.*

*'Twas last September we got it,
A lovely craft to behold;
We swelled with pride at the thought that we
Would be its pilots bold!*

*Huge waves have often swept our decks,
By high winds we've been whipped,
But no ship like ours could ever become
A forsaken derelict.*

*'Twas not long 'ere we were settled
In our route on the deep green sea;
We're anchored at last at our voyage's end—
Hurrah for Victory!*

We've completed one lap of a grand sea voyage
And have to go five more;
We've ridden the waves with buoyant hearts,
Undaunted by storms galore.

Our ship, tho' small, is strong and true,
A gallant of the sea;
She sailed along thro' squall and calm
For doughty sailors, we.

The biggest storm, we vow, was Math;
It chilled to our bones!
But here we are with no loss of limb
Nor a peep of Davy Jones!

Science, English, History,
We've sailed right thro' them all;
Our ship is safe in harbor
Just waiting for next Fall!

The Log-Book

Every properly manuevered vessel has a Log-Book. Every circumstance deserving notice that may happen to the ship or within her cognizance is daily transcribed within the Log-Book; in short every condition, occurrence and transaction which comes under official notice.

In a similar manner has this staff tried to record within the pages of this book a sufficiently detailed account of the past years. Herein is recorded the personnel, the activities of the clubs and the classes, and the accomplishments of teams in various contests. All of these things and others will recall to the minds of each the happy days spent in Lebanon High School.

Though the voyage has been smooth, the sea with her dangerous storms and balmy days will ever beckon us to more distant ports and the motto, "Sail On, Sail On" is ever ringing in our ears.

Athletics

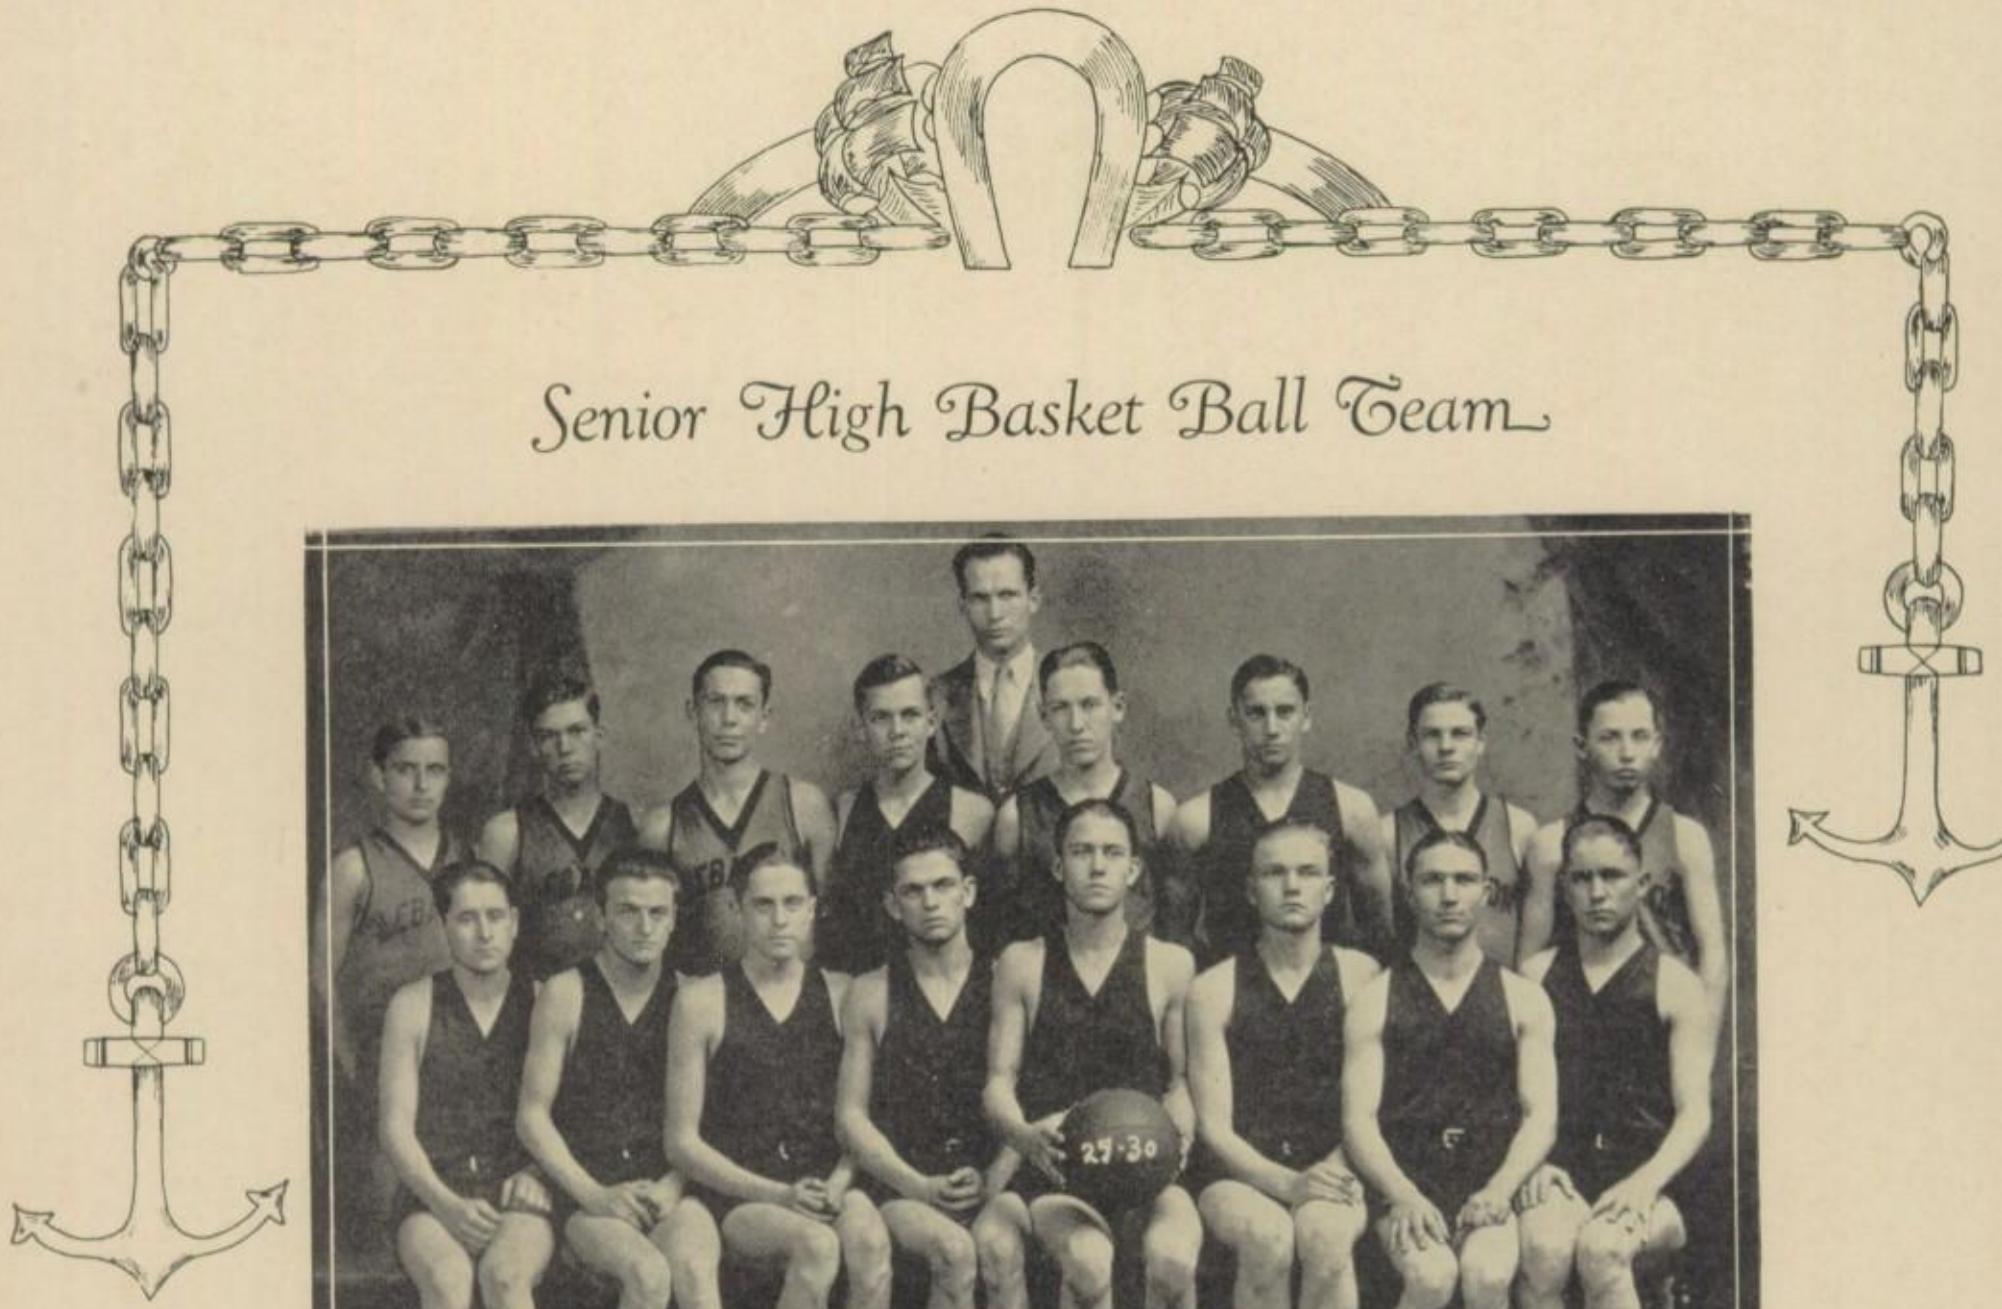

Officers of Athletic Association

Ruth Katherine Fleming, Frank Harris, Firman Wood, Hazel Clark, Elizabeth Draper, Bernice English.

Each year an Athletic Association is organized in Senior High School. All students are eligible to membership. Officers for the association are elected by the student body once each semester. A program committee which is appointed by the president has charge of all the "pep" assemblies that are held in the interest of athletics.

It is through this organization that we are able to have an enthusiastic student body. With such school spirit as this organization arouses, Lebanon cannot help having a well supported team which means a victorious one. It is easily seen that the Athletic Association is of much value in the maintenance of an athletic program in our school.

Activities

The Purpose of the Activity Period In Our High School

The activity period in the daily program of our Junior and Senior High Schools came as the result of a need for a definite time in which students could participate in extra curricular activities. In order that each student might have a part in these activities, various clubs were organized by the students with the faculty members as advisors.

These clubs meet once each week on either Tuesday or Thursdays which are the regular days for meetings to be held.

The programs and projects of the different clubs vary according to the nature of the club. For instance, the Travel Club is interested mostly in studying places of historical or scenic fame, while the Civic Pride Club is responsible for the beauty of the school and its surroundings with Civic Pride Day as its climaxing event.

The activity period also has its social or recreational value. Since the group in each club is rather small there is a possibility for more personal social contacts than in the groups of the various classes. The clubs are allowed to have one party, picnic, or social meeting each quarter.

On the remaining three days of the week, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, assemblies of the entire student body are held. The Monday activity period is given over as a day on which each club must present a program. Thus members of the clubs learn how to appear before an audience. Every other Wednesday is devoted to singing by the entire high school. On the remaining Wednesday a talk or devotional service is given by some minister of the town. The Pep Assemblies are held on Friday during the activity period.

The result of the activity period is that the students of Lebanon High School are more highly developed socially, morally, and esthetically.

Inter-Scholastic Contests

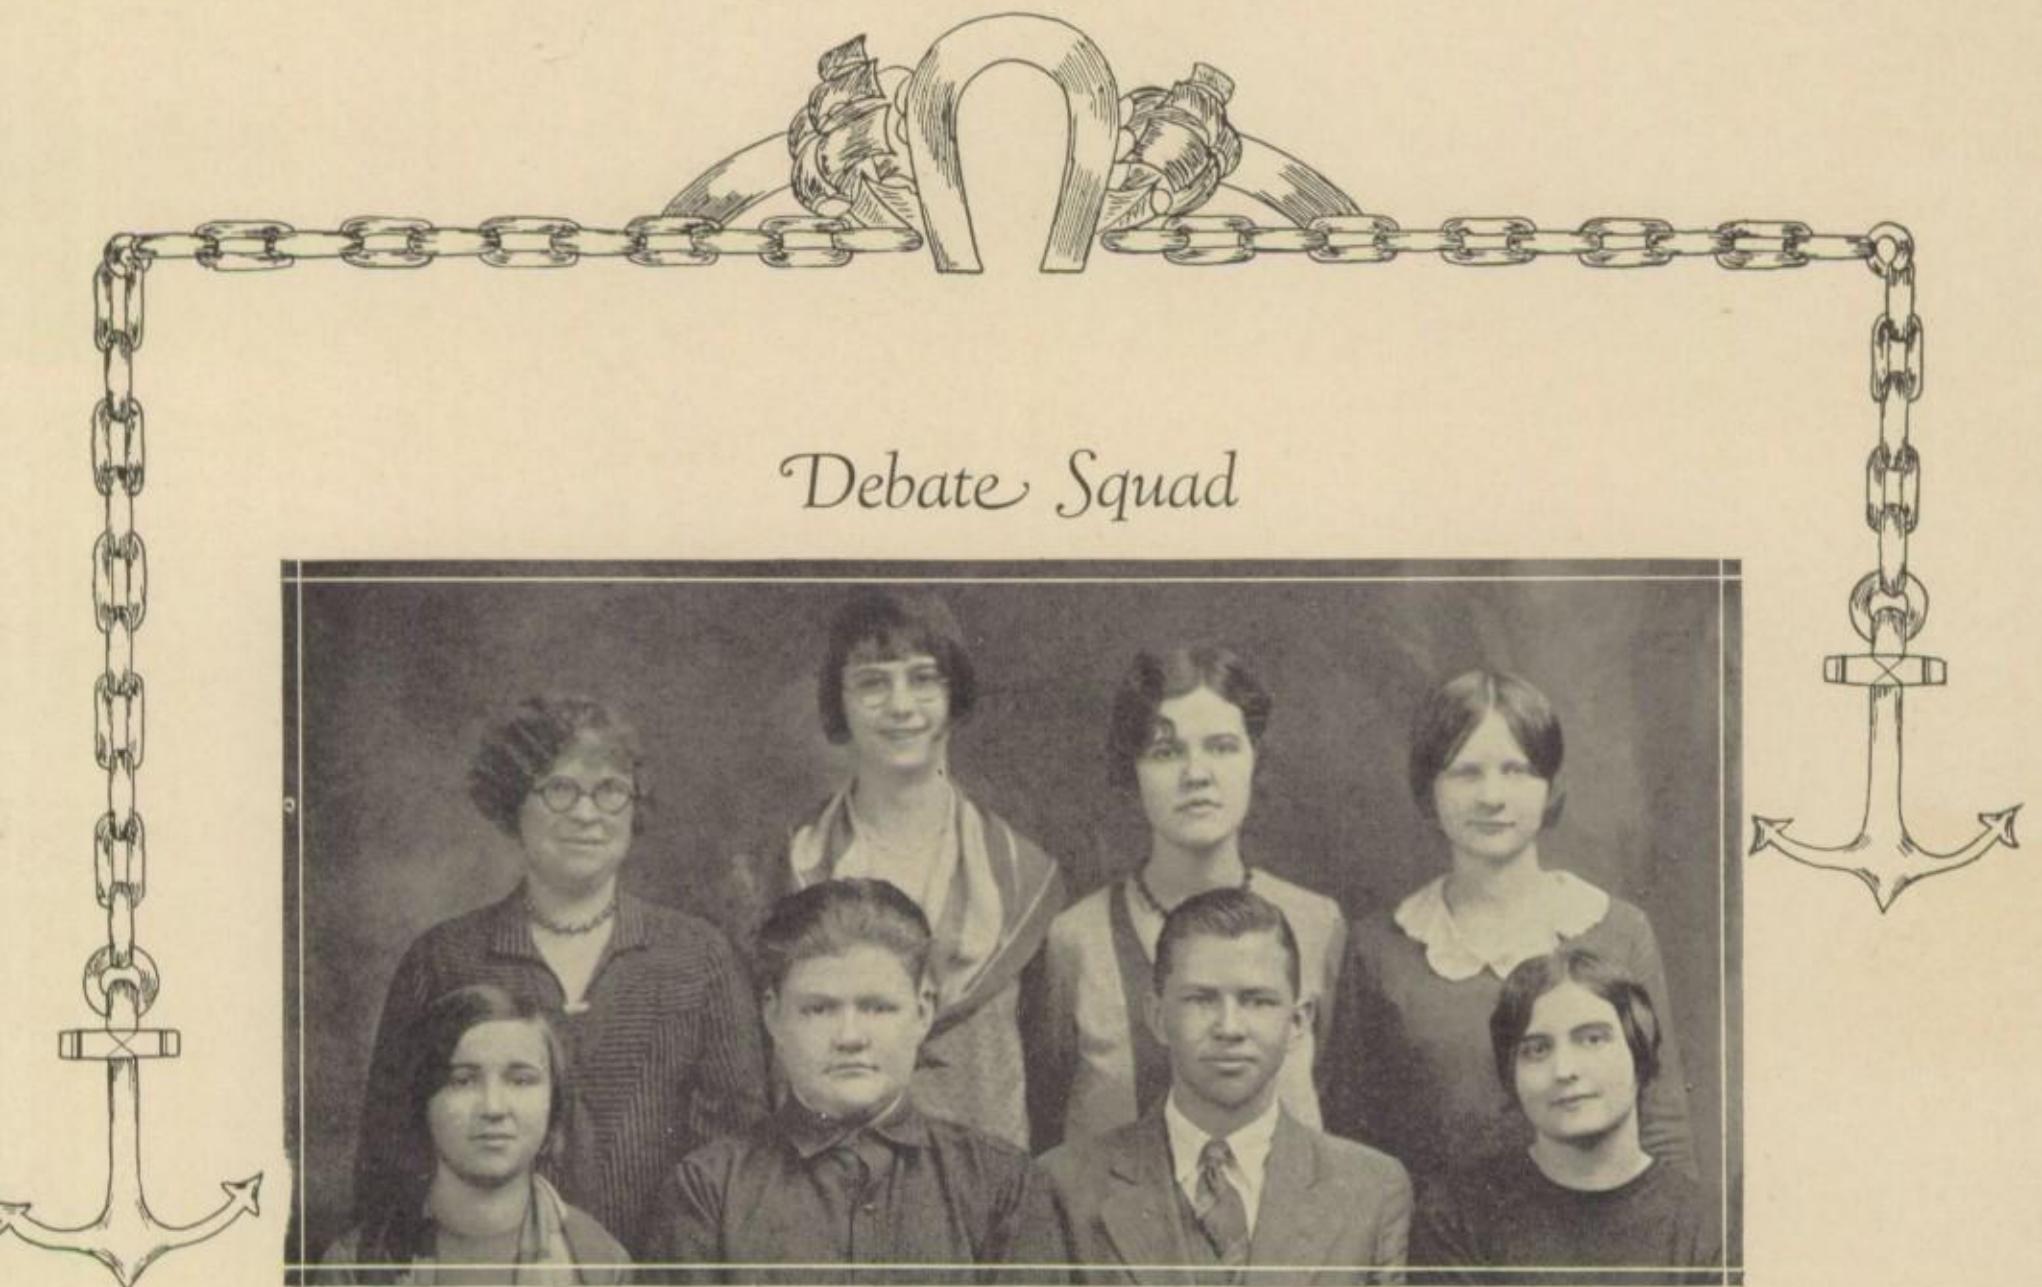

Lebanon High School has had the distinction of winning many honors in inter-scholastic contests such as debate, oratory, spelling, Vocational Home Economics and Vocational Agriculture. The roll of participants in such contests includes Jean Bradshaw, Leo Nyberg, Ted Willard, and Lawrence Grace who were State Champion Debaters. Through the efforts of John Romans and Rufus Grace the trophy of the district oratorical contest sponsored by Springfield Teachers College has come to our school twice. Hazel Hillme won the district contest in spelling in 1927. The Phi Beta Kappa Cup given for scholarship o. freshman in the University of Missouri was won in 1928 by Lawrence Grace, David Joslyn, and Robert King.

At the state contests in Columbia during High School Week in 1928, Julia Diffenderfer and Louise Beck won first place in Clothing and Home Nursing. Helen Chandler was the highest ranking first year student in the home economics contest the same year.

In the state contests in Vocational Home Economics in 1929, Farron Owen won first place in Home Nursing, and Dorothy Vernon first place in House Furnishings.

In the state contests held for Vocational Agriculture students many honors have been won. In 1927 Joseph Harvey won the state championship in Farm Mechanics. In 1928 Bert Glasscock received state honors in Entomology. At the same contest a team consisting of Bert Glasscock, Howard Windsor; and Herman Johnson were the champion team in Entomology.

Max Zelsman placed first in Farm Mechanics in the 1929 state contests.

The distinction of being a Best Citizen of either Junior or Senior High School is a very great honor, because this distinction is the result of the popular vote of the students. Once every two weeks an election for best citizen is held. The idea of Best Citizen originated three years ago when the student council drew up a list of characteristics that each person in high school should possess to be a good citizen. These are some of the characteristics from the list: good character, loyal to school, courteous, choice of proper associates, punctual, a good loser, and pleasing personality.

ACT I. Morning of a summer day.
ACT II. The same afternoon.
TIME: Last summer.

George Burbank will have no one for his son-in-law except a fellow of brawn. Betty is wooed by Harold, a man of the opposite type. McCullom plans a flying stunt by Joe Bennett, and offers a prize for an amateur parachute jump. Jim Carter makes alibis for Harold to prevent his going up and yet get credit for bravery and make good his opportunity. All fail and Harold is deeply involved. But he is forced to go through with it; by a fluke saves reputation as a dare-devil, gets Burbank's approval, and wins the girl.

No Good

Boys Beaten Badly

Several of our High School boys are suffering from severe and sundry wounds inflicted on them by an irate professor, Mr. Russel. The said boys were attempting, according to Prof. Russel, to force him to wear a certain part of presents received by him on the school Christmas tree!

ACTRESS ENGAGED

'Tis reported in the best of circles that Roy Williams, noted piccoloist, finally mustered up enough courage to ask the hand of Hazel Light, dainty daughter of cinema. The wedding is postponed until the first frost as the hero is an addict of hay-fever.

Ho! Scum! Hast Heard the latest?

Latest what, bragadaccio?

Juicy Gossip!

Nay, silly one! What has thy dirty ears been hearing of late?

Ah! A certain young quartette of ye nobility stole from the walls of the castle and wandered to ye citye of Springfield, only to be captured and kept in prison for four days and nights.

Aunt Gracie's advice to the love-lorn:
Dear Aunt Gracie:

My dandruff is gone and I'm still unpopular! What shall I do?

"WALLFLOWER"

Listerine, m'dear, Listerine!

Aunt Gracie:

I am bothered with would-be girl friends. How can I rid myself of the ladies?

WILLIE MATHEWS

Dear Boy:

Eat onions and if that fails, try garlic.

Society

Mr. Emmitt Massey entertained with a bridge luncheon last Thursday afternoon. It was a very charming affair. The house was decorated gorgeously with oak boughs and buttercups. A three course luncheon was served, consisting of bread, butter, and cheese. Miss Vivian Curran assisted in the serving.

A simple, but effective bridegroom was solemnized by Miss Juanita Wrinkle not many moons hence. The ecstatic bridegroom had on the conventional black tie, while the embarrassed young bride wore pale blue stockings. The couple created quite a sensation when they descended the church stairs.

Nuzitums

Mr. Ben Turner has started on his second bottle of Lepages glue mending his broken rib.

Fritz Woosley has been on the puny list of late, but has gained two pounds in the last week.

You should step into the Wiggly Maggot office and view the enormous spud grown by Mr. Charles Windsor. It is three feet long and has one thousand, twenty-three eyes.

Athletes may go

And fade as in a dream.

The horsefly is the best of all
He's always on the team.

She doesn't like a shady joke,
She doesn't swear,
She never flirts,
She doesn't neck,
She doesn't smoke,
She doesn't wear those shortened skirts,
She doesn't dance,
She doesn't sing.
And sheiks in pants don't mean a thing.
She doesn't use the beauty salves,
But won't refuse to show her calves.
You ask her name—
Well, that's a wow,
She's not a dame,
She's just a cow.

Hush little Senior,

Don't be bold

You're only a Freshman

Four years old.

Why is Bill walking down the street between Turner and Burd?

Awe, they're playing they're a limburger cheese sandwich.

Luther—Who's the best looking boy in Lebanon High, and why am I?

Miss Adams—Have you read, "To a Field Mouse?"

T. T. Stude—No! How do you get them to listen?

Lela—Did you notice that good looking boy who sat across from you in the study hall this morning?

Hazel—The one with the orange neck-tie, green shirt, blue eyes and dark curly hair? No! Why?

Mike—When do the leaves begin to turn?

Ike—The night before exams.

Mr. Rainey—Where have you been all week?

Edgra G.—Stop me if you have heard this one.

They stood beneath the mistletoe,
He knew not what to do;
For he was only five feet tall
And she was six feet, two.

Mr. McMillan—Now boys, you must never do anything in private that you wouldn't do in public.

Foster—Hurray! No more baths!

Pa Palmer—Say, look here; you aren't getting as much milk from those cows as you used to.

Roy—Nope, sorta lost my pull.

Bennie—Keep still, Ben, Jim's got his eye on you.

Ben—Well, all I can say is that he knows a good looking guy when he sees one.

His mother calls him Louis. He is the fourteenth.

Max—I've never seen such dreamy eyes.

Flo—That's because you've never stayed so late before.

Gee—Did you want to catch that train?

Whiz—No, I was just chasing it away from the station.

Dorothy—Dad, if you will give me a dime, I'll be a good girl.

Mr. Mac—When I was your age I was good for nothing.

Dick Lorrance—I'm going to marry a beautiful girl and a good cook.

Bill J.—You can't; that's bigamy.

Chuck J.—Miss Algeo, should a guy be punished for something he didn't do?

Miss A.—Of course not.

C. Johnson—Well, I didn't do my algebra.

Something that runs in the best of families—Silk hose.

Clint—There's one thing I like about my girl.

Jordon—What's that?

Clint—The fellow that she goes with.

JOKE SECSHUN

The Freshman's by-word—"Oh yah?"

Isabel—I feel as if I were going to faint!
Skinny—Great Scott, don't faint, I wouldn't know what to do!
Izy—Oh well, then there's no use fainting.

Mr. McMillan—which side of the heart is smaller?
Frosh—The inside, of course.

Jackie (to Olga, walking down the street)—May I come, too?
Olga—You'll never come to, unconscious.

Even his best friend wouldn't tell him so he flunked the exam.

Frank (in class)—He was born, he was born, he was born—
Charlie—Gee, he must have been triplets!

Miss Burgess—Have you done any outside reading?
J. H. Abbott—Not yet. It's been too cold to read outside.

Carnie—Hello, Claude. Using your car this afternoon?
Claude—I am afraid I am.
Carnie—Fine, you won't need your tennis racket. Mine is broken.

Clyde—Don't be like that; act like a gentleman.
Irene—Sorry, but I don't do imitations.

Herman Johnson—About twelve o'clock the party waxed merry.
Vivian C.—Poor Mary.

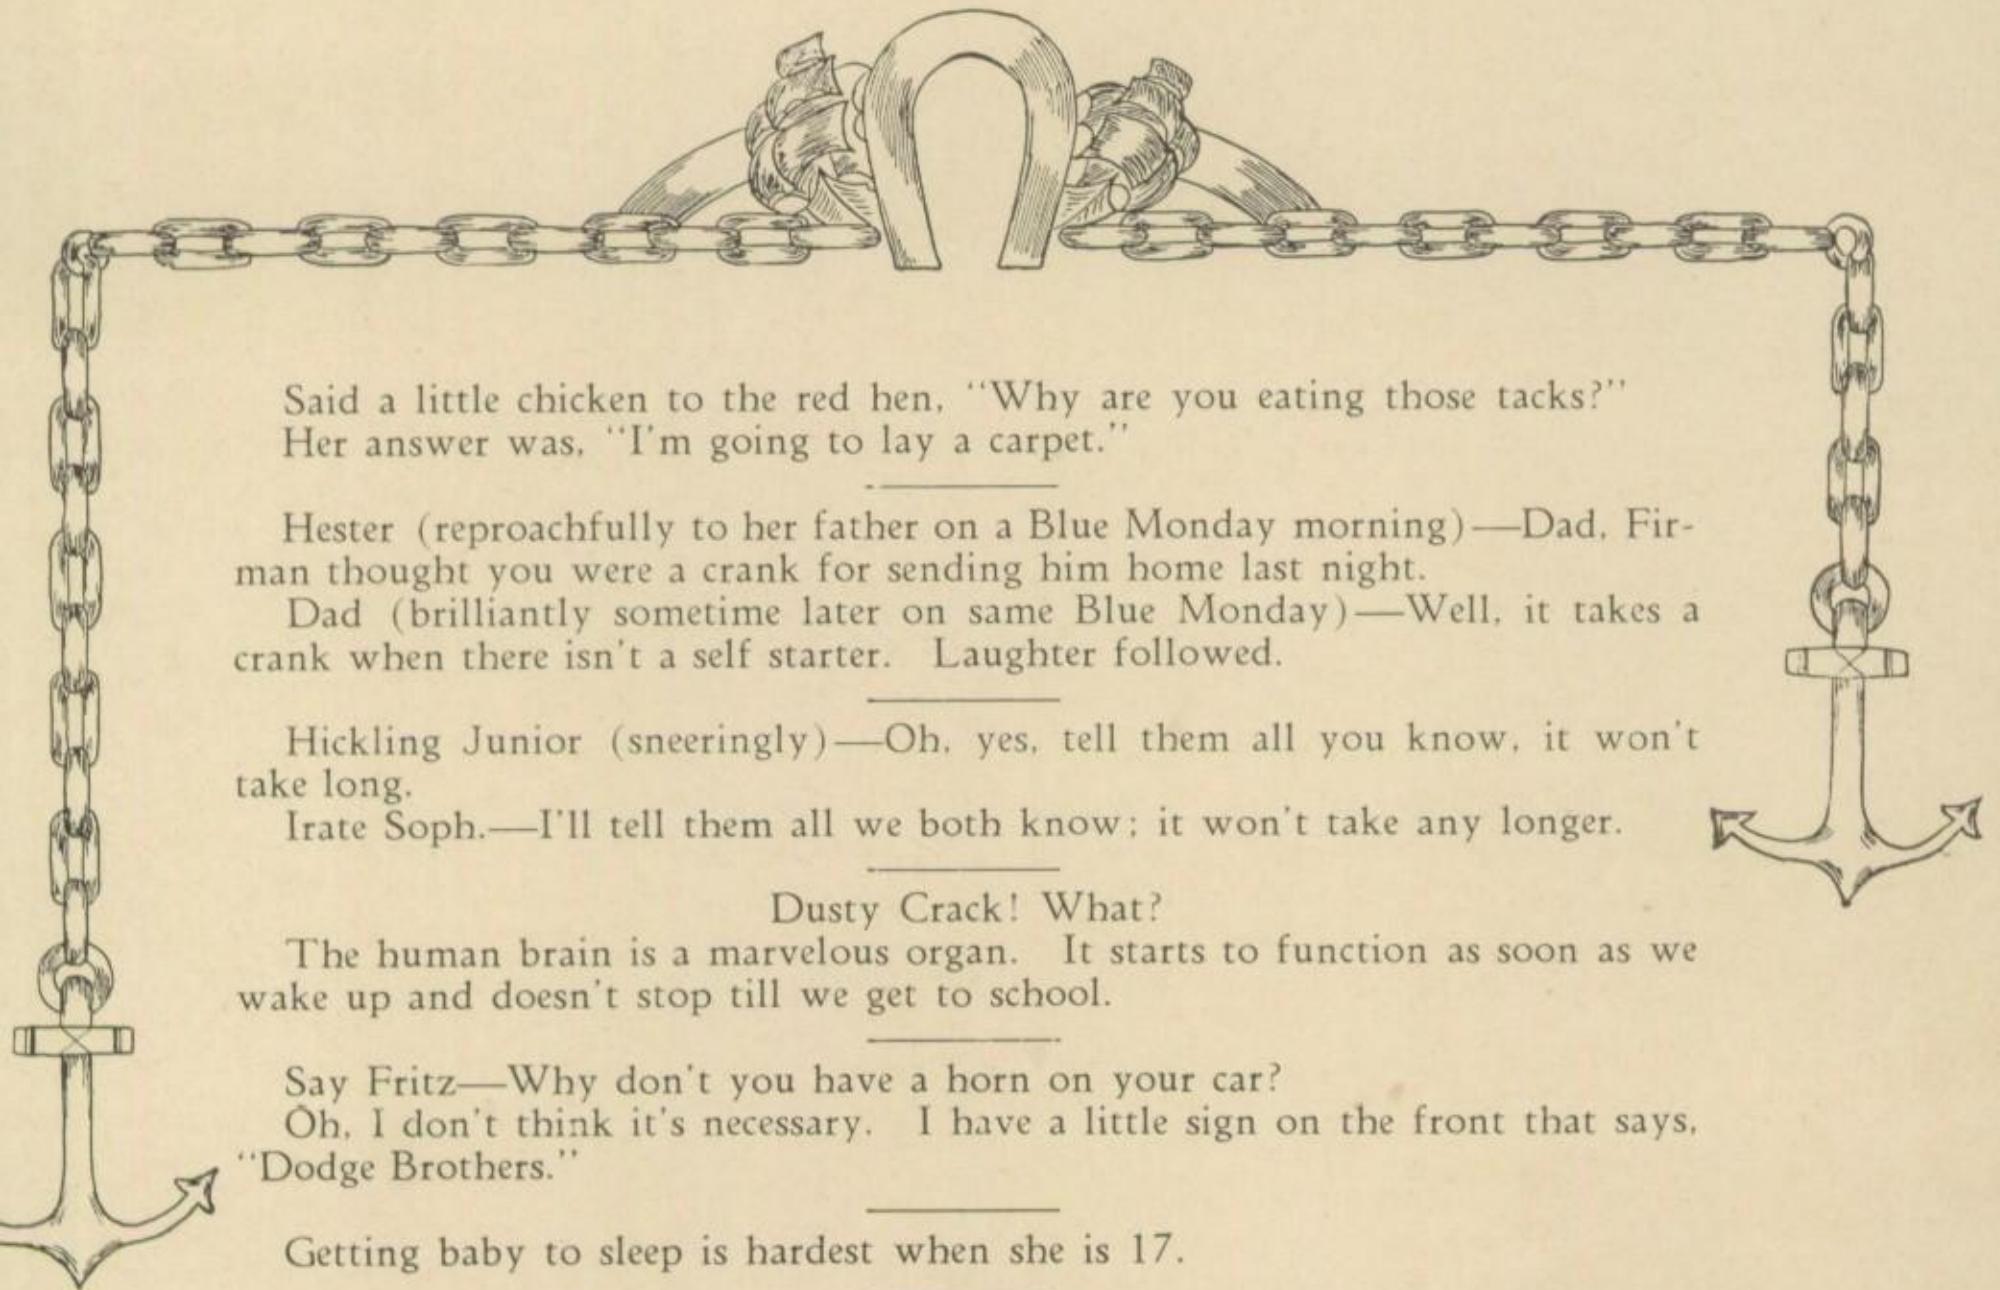

Ralph Massey—Say anything to me, big boy, and I'll make you eat your words.

John Hill—Chicken dumplings, hot biscuits, and watermelons.

Mary Louise Wilson—Where did you get those sweet little dimples?
Ann P.—By sleeping on collar buttons all night.

Mrs. Rainey—Papa, baby has your ears and nose.
Papa (absent mindedly)—Take 'em away from her. It's getting so nothing is safe around here.

Roy—I am burning with love.
Dot—Oh, don't make a fuel of yourself.

Said a little chicken to the red hen, "Why are you eating those tacks?"
Her answer was, "I'm going to lay a carpet."

Hester (reproachfully to her father on a Blue Monday morning)—Dad, Firman thought you were a crank for sending him home last night.

Dad (brilliantly sometime later on same Blue Monday)—Well, it takes a crank when there isn't a self starter. Laughter followed.

Hickling Junior (sneeringly)—Oh, yes, tell them all you know, it won't take long.

Irate Soph.—I'll tell them all we both know; it won't take any longer.

Dusty Crack! What?

The human brain is a marvelous organ. It starts to function as soon as we wake up and doesn't stop till we get to school.

Say Fritz—Why don't you have a horn on your car?

Oh, I don't think it's necessary. I have a little sign on the front that says, "Dodge Brothers."

Getting baby to sleep is hardest when she is 17.

"It's the small things in life that tell" said Ruby as she dragged her little sister from under the sofa.

Miss McGregor—For two cents, I'd throw this penny away.

Miss Burgess—What did Caesar mean by, "Away, away slight men?"

Chas. A.—Aw! Gwan, beat it, yuh little runts.

Miss Marshall—Now Bill, what comes next to H in the alphabet?

Bill Vernon—I dunno.

Miss Marshall—What have I on both sides of my nose?

Bill—Freckles.

Eldon—Soap's good for the eyes.

Thad—Yeah!

Eldon—Yeah, it makes them smart.

Dick Crow—Gosh! There was a worm in that bite of apple.

Kind Friend—Here, take a drink of water; wash it down.

Dick—Wash it down nothing! Let the beggar walk.

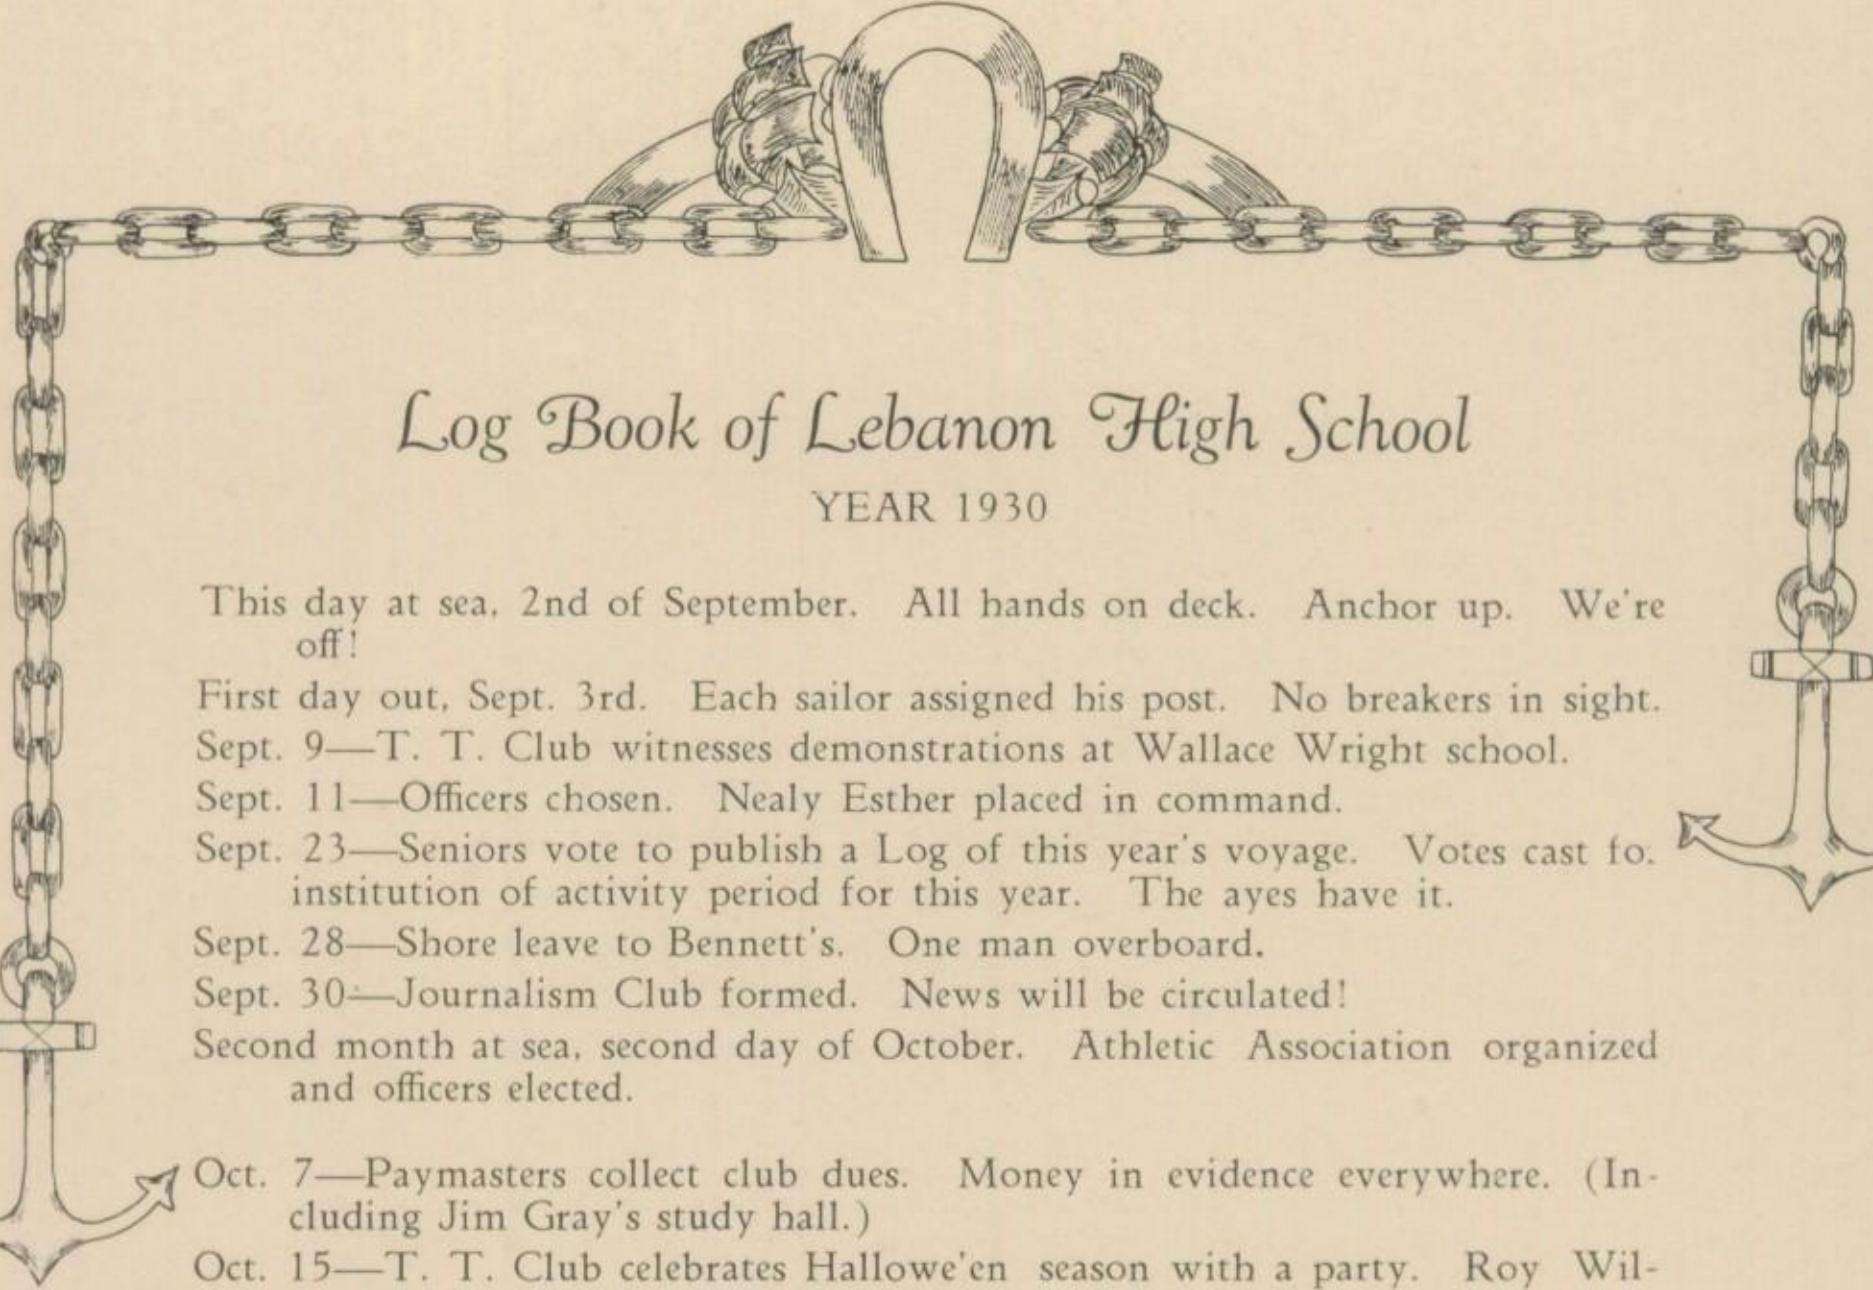

There is nothing that broadens one like travel, unless it's too many hot fudge sundaes.

Miss Johnson—Do you know Shakespeare well?

Mr. Russell—Gwan, you can't kid me; Shakespeare is dead!

First Ag.—I never saw such a season. My corn ain't an inch high yet.

Second Ditto—An inch high! Why, the birds have to kneel down to eat mine.
